Clients should be aware that these services pay commission or other compensation and involve a conflict of interest, as commissionable products conflict with the fiduciary duties of a registered investment advisor.

Advisors, LLC (“SWA”) always acts in the best interest of the client; including the sale of commissionable products to advisory clients. Clients are in no way required to utilize the services of any representative of SWA in connection with such individual's activities outside of SWA.

Investment advisor representatives (“IAR”) are required to recommend only those securities transactions that are suitable for a customer, based on the customer’s investment objectives and financial circumstances. SWA reviews all recommendations by its investment advisor representatives to ensure that such recommendations are suitable. In addition, when acting as an investment advisor representative offering the investment advisory services described in SWA’s Brochure, your financial advisor is required to act in your best interests. SWA also monitors your financial advisor’s investment advisory activities for compliance with this obligation.

Your IAR is also an attorney, licensed to practice law in the state of Texas. She offers legal services including wills and other basic estate planning documents.

In addition to offering services as an investment advisor representative, your IAR also provides bookkeeping services to Central Presbyterian Church on a contract basis.

Item 5: Additional Compensation

Your IAR does receive compensation from LTC Global, an insurance exchange, when placing Long-Term Care Policies as means of protecting his client’s investment assets from expensive assisted living and nursing home care as well as from Broker’s Alliance in connection with the sale of insurance products.

For more information about the other compensation and the benefits received by your financial advisor, please contact your financial advisor.
